

Alexa Kielty
Zero Waste Specialist
San Francisco Department of the Environment

Alexa Kielty is a Zero Waste Specialist at San Francisco Department of the Environment, working on zero waste since 2001. She has designed and executed San Francisco's apartment food scrap composting collection program, implemented residentially San Francisco's Mandatory Recycling and Composting Ordinance and developed San Francisco's zero waste special event program and outreach strategy. In her free time she loves being in or at least near the Pacific Ocean, and hiking the trails in Tilden in the East Bay.
